

Don't you dare weaken the No Call law. If I change my bank, credit card or phone carrier, they currently get one call - one chance to win back my business. If they can't do it in one call, why should they get 18 months to keep calling? How many calls do they want to make to me and harass me into accepting their service? They get one call and one chance only. Not 18 months worth. I don't want their harassing calls during my dinner, waking my baby, leaving dozens of messages on my answering machine - in fact, prior to the No Call law, it was not unusual for me to come home to 10 or more harassing messages from these companies, thereby leaving no room on the machine for calls from family and friends. DON'T CAVE INTO THE PRESSURE FROM THESE HARASSING COMPANIES! YOU'VE DONE THE RIGHT THING IN ENACTING THIS LAW! TAKE STRENGTH FROM THE FACT THAT THE CITIZENS OF THIS COUNTRY ARE 100% BEHIND YOU!!!!
